Believe Balkan Trouble Averted For Present Time

Agreement Reached In League Council On Yugoslavia-Hungary
Dispute

SEEK ACCORD OF ITALY AND FRANCE

League Also Seeks To Adjust Discord Between Italy And Yugoslavia

(International News Service)
GENEVA, Dec. 11.—With trouble in the Balkans at least temporarily averted, France and Italy came together today in an attempt to consolidate European peace through accords between Italy and Yugoslavia and Italy and France.

Relations among these three countries, with Italy lined up with Hungary in her dispute with Yugoslavia, France's ally, had been seriously strained through the last tense week.

Discuss Agreement
Foreign Minister Pierre Laval of France and Baron Pompeo Aloisi of Italy, lost no time in meeting today to discuss a working agreement between Italy and her neighbor across the Adriatic.

This was the aim of Foreign Minister Louis Barthou, who was preparing to go to Rome on that mission just before he and King Alexander of Yugoslavia were assassinated, and Laval is determined to carry out the project.

The rapprochement between Italy and France, reached earlier this fall, will be sealed when Laval goes to Rome to visit Premier Benito Mussolini, possibly before the end of this year.

Laval and Baron Aloisi have agreed, it was understood, that such

PA NEW OBSERVES

Dear Pa New:
I received a request a few days ago by a reader of this column, asking me if poison shumac was as dangerous as poison ivy. One can receive serious infections by coming in contact with poison shu-mac at any time. The smoke from burning shumac will spread the poison, but the most dangerous result from shumac is when the wood is broken, this releases a fine active oil which gets on the skin and causes the most damage. And this oil when it touches the skin should be removed at once by using an alcoholic solution of sugar of lead.
This will cure the poison in three days, providing you are not troubled with rheumatism, in this case you should see a doctor.

Boak Urges Support For State Income Tax For Schools And Poor

(International News Service)
HERSHEY, Pa., Dec. 11.—Pennsylvania's farmers were told today that the present system of state taxation is inadequate and that a revision of the tax laws must be made to include levies on incomes and direct taxes for the support of public schools and poor districts.

Opening the 62nd annual convention of the Pennsylvania State Grange here, J. A. Boak, of New Castle, the Master, said:
"We must look forward to the time when our public schools and poor districts will be supported from a tax on incomes and a per capita tax on every American citizen."

The opening session was attended by representatives from the 800 granges in the state who will discuss in addition to tax problems, legislative policies, highways, rural electrification affairs of interest to

Great Britain Will Default On U. S. Debt

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—Great Britain today led the debt-defaulting parade of the European nations to pay this government $630,000,000
next Saturday.

In a note made public by the state department, the British government served formal notice of its intention to default outright for the second time.

The British note declared that "his majesty's government" felt that the considerations which governed Britain's decision to default last June "apply with equal force today."

Gerson Jewelry Store Window Is Shattered

Employees Guard Valuable Gems Monday Night After Window Is Broken

Large plateglass in the Gerson jewelry store, North Mercer street, was broken at 8:30 o'clock last night and was immediately replaced while Jack Gerson and employees guarded the thousands of dollars worth of diamonds and other jewels in the gem shop. The exact cause for the breaking of the big window in unknown.

It was suspected at first that someone had wrapped a brick, stone or some other object in cloth and hammered it heavily against the plateglass in the hope of snatching diamonds then making an escape through Sycamore way. Later it was thought possible that a tire on a passing automobile had picked up a stone or piece of brick and hurled it against the glass.

None of the employees or customers in the business place saw any-person, when startled by the crash, they turned to see the glass with a hole the size of a quarter and the pane cracked in all directions.
Neither was there any stone or piece of brick found outside the store. A local firm which deals in plateglass was called and by midnight the North Mercer street plateglass window had been replaced.

push it off the rails before the demolished it.

The coupe, pounded into scrap by the high-speed limited, was owned by Herman List. Mr. List and his

MAN DROWNS AS BOAT CAPSIZES

Another Near Death In Pittsburgh Hospital In River Tragedy

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Dec. 11.—One man was dead and another believed near death in a hospital here today following the sinking of a rowboat in the Allegheny river.

The victim, John Durkin, 40, and a companion, Stanley Piker, 34, had rowed across the river to gather coal scraps and were on their way back when the weight of the coal sank the frail boat in the middle of the

Lift Parking Rules In City For Shoppers

City Authorities To Allow Parking Everywhere
Except Restricted
Zones

WAIVE REGULATIONS AS AID TO SHOPPERS

Following a conference today between Mayor Charles B. Mayne and Chief of Police John F. Haven, the latter announced that from now until after Christmas, motorists can park their cars, while shopping, day or night, in any street or avenue, except in a restricted zone, without fear of receiving a tag.

In plain words, there will be no penalty for parking, the time limit having been erased for the holiday period and the principal desire of the mayor and chief of police is that people from points throughout Lawrence county visit New Castle
during the holiday season.

Of course, the officials cannot allow anyone to park their automobile in a restricted zone—such as a section where passengers board street cars or too near a fire plug.
Police will be placed along the streets and avenues to aid the strangers in finding a place to park their cars.

Speeders are requested to be on their good behavior and to step lightly on the gas pedal during the holiday season, so that Christmas will be a day of real happiness instead of a day of grief for some family. Speeding and reckless driving is an offense which cannot be condoned, the chief explained.

(BULLETIN)

International News Service
LANSING, Mich., Dec. 11.—Belief that a hundred persons perished in the Kerns Hotel fire was expressed this afternoon by Capt. John F. O'Brien, of the Lansing police.

"I don't believe I am exaggerating when I say 100 persons were trapped in the hotel," he said.
"Far more than that are missing and almost the entire detective force has been unsuccessful in efforts to locate them since dawn."

LANSING, Mich., Dec. 11.—At least 12 and probably as many as 40 persons died early today in a fire which swept the four-story Hotel Kerns which was crowded with moments before the front wall fell. He had gone back into the hotel to assist guests. Kerns and his wife escaped.

PENNSYLVANIA DEMOCRATS FOR BYRNS

Announce Stand On House Speaker

Senator-Elect Guffey Tells Delegation Of His Plans For State

DISCLAIMS IDEA OF BECOMING BOSS

(International News Service) WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—Rep. Joseph Byrns of Tennessee, Democratic leader of the house, today had the support of the big Pennsylvania delegation for speaker of the house.

Rep. Haines, chairman of the delegation, announced that it had, in caucus, unanimously decided to vote for Byrns. The delegation was 23 Democrats, all but two of whom were present.

The Pennsylvania group threw its support to Byrns without indication from Senator-Elect Joseph F. Guffey as to whom he preferred for the post.

To Build Up State Organization In an address delivered at the "victory dinner" of the party, attended by Postmaster General James A. Farley, however, Guffey re-affirmed his stand for a united front, pleading for a harmonious grouping of the party.

Guffey gave clear indication in his speech that he intends to do his utmost to build up a formidable organization in Pennsylvania, but again disclaimed any intention of imposing himself as "boss" over the commonwealth's Democracy.

"I have come to Washington to serve all the people of the state," he said, "I will give my best efforts to their interests. I believe those interests lie with the New Deal and that the people of Pennsylvania by their vote clearly demonstrated that they are behind our president, and that's where you will find me."

OVER 200 ROTARIANS GATHER AT ANNUAL BUCKWHEAT RODEO

Newton Toastmaster

Presiding as toastmaster during the evening was Elmer M. Newton, president of the New Wilmington club, the host group. Seated with him at the speakers' table were the Rev. J. Ralph Neale, pastor of the church in which the dinner was served and the one who introduced Dr. Muir; President Robert F. Galbreath, of Westminster college, who offered the invocation, and District Governor Albert Smith of Johnstown, head of Rotary's 33rd district club.

Before and after the dinner came lively pep songs led by Prof. Harold Black, member of the New Wilmington club.

A feature of the evening was the appearance of the talented quartet, "The Grenadiers," of Erie. Making up the group were John L. Morgan, first tenor; O. L. Greider, second tenor; Arthur Kirkbride, first bass, and James V. Sieg, second bass, with Percy Le Suer as accompanist. Hearty applause met every ending of the quartet's singing and so it was not until after about seven numbers, including a musical saw solo and several vocal solos, that the audience was content to leave it rest.

Dr. Muir's address followed the quartet numbers and marked the final event of the evening. Singing of "Auld Lang Syne" brought the annual rally to a close.

Earlier, District Governor Albert Smith, who represented the Johnstown club, called the Rotarians' attention to the serious illness of former District Governor Levi Beeler, now confined to the Jameson Memorial hospital here. Governor Smith today carried to Mr. Beeler the hopes of his fellow clubmen for a rapid recovery, expressed last night.

Tribute To Memory The clubmen also stood for a moment of silence out of respect for the memory of the late William McLaughry, founder of the buckwheat dinners and up until last year the general chairman of every one.

Rotarian Fred L. Rentz, president of The News Company, delivered the only impromptu speech of the evening.

Handling last night's program for the New Wilmington club was a committee composed of Rotarians Donald Weaver, Prof. Harold Black and Prof. Ben Euwema.

When the roll call was taken by President Newton last night, representatives of the following clubs arose and acknowledged their introduction:

New Castle, New Wilmington, Beaver Falls, Ellwood City, Greenville, Grove City, Mercer, Sharon, Zellenople, Youngstown, Rochester, Erie, Cambridge Springs, Meadville and Johnstown.

The dinner tables, set up in the large basement of the town's United Presbyterian church, carried Christmas decorations, and at one end of the hall there was a lighted Christmas tree. The young ladies who handled the kitchen part of the work and the serving were members of the Young Ladies Guild of the church.

While no reports are at hand of the fact, Pa Newc observes that skating is now good on the ponds and smaller bodies of still water in the district, with temperatures hovering close to the zero mark for three consecutive days.

George Short, East Wallace avenue, noted here as a sportsman, returned over the week end from a McKean county hunting camp where he bagged an eight point buck last Saturday. He accompanied a local party.

OUR YESTERDAYS—When Anna Held, French Singer, Staged Famous Milk Bath Stunt

Three poses of Anna Held

THE ANNALS of the stage list Anna Held as one of the great celebrities of all time. A native of Paris, Anna started her career back of the footlights as a member of the chorus of a London theater. Becoming a singer, Anna attracted the attention of American theater producers by her rendition of the song, "Won't You Come and Play With Me?" One of the producers who heard her sing the song with her marked French accent was Florenz Ziegfeld, who married the little French singer a year after she arrived in the United States. Anna, a star of Broadway for many years, was given wide publicity for her famous milk bath stunt. Revelation of the cause of her popularity came to light when a milk company sued Ziegfeld for failing to pay for 50 cans of milk delivered to a New York hotel where he and Anna lived. Although it was disclosed later that it had been a publicity venture, milk bath beauty treatment spread in popularity throughout this country and in other parts of the world.

sires to exercise a right of franchise should be required to pay a tax, Boak told the delegates. He explained:

"Our laws should be so amended that aliens who enjoy the privileges of American life should be compelled to assist in the support of the public schools whose benefits are more largely enjoyed by them than by our children of American birth."

Touching upon other tax matters, Boak urged that the Grange continue its support for the exclusive use of money derived from the gasoline tax for the use of maintenance, construction and policing of the state's highways.

"We realize that there is a demand for a reduction of the gasoline tax and believe that instead of such reduction there should be a reduction of the motor license fee of 50 per cent, thereby placing the cost of highway maintenance on a fair and equitable basis for motorists."

owned the hotel and occupied a lower floor suite, escaped in their night clothing. The building was an old brick structure, for many years a favorite meeting place for legislators and politicians.

The fire, starting from some unknown cause about 5:30, roared through the entire second floor, cutting off the hundreds of guests who were on the two top floors. The walls collapsed within half an hour after firemen arrived.

The fire extinguished all lights in the hotel a few moments after the night clerk, I. J. Jones, discovered it after a guest had phoned the desk saying he smelled smoke. The darkness of the little red lights which marked entrances to the outside fire escapes was believed to have cost many lives. Some of the guests who escaped by leaping from windows said they saw crowds of people running through the smoky halls trying to find the fire escapes.

Many Are Trapped The screams of those trapped inside the burning building could be heard for a block above the roof of the flames, before the walls collapsed. Many of the doomed men and women leaped from windows onto a lower section of the building and used as a kitchen. They had settled down to await rescue, witnesses said, when a falling wall buried them from sight.

The thin ice which sheathed the river at the rear of the hotel was peppered with hundreds of holes. Some were made by falling bricks and pieces of debris. Other larger ones mark the spots where the bodies of those who leaped from the rear windows crashed into the river. It was feared that many bodies would be found in the mud of the river bed. The water behind the hotel was not more than five feet deep, and firemen said those leaping from the third and fourth floors might have plunged into the muck and been trapped there.

The Hotel Wentworth, part of the same building, but divided from the Hotel Kerns by a fire wall, and its guests escaped without casualties.

Appalled by the tragedy which followed the summoning of the unprecedented special session to determine election results, the house of representatives met briefly and recessed until 3 p. m. It was believed the entire session would be recessed until Friday.

at home so that the shoppers from the city and county could use the parking space. It is reported that this desire will be granted by the merchants, clerks and office employees.

As Christmas draws near the mayor and myself want the people to drive down town and the shoppers from the county to visit New Castle. They can park, buy and be satisfied that the police department will render courteous aid in anything possible. No tags will be given out," said Chief Haven.

All of the police on traffic duty were summoned by the chief this afternoon and given instructions that they should "park" their tags in motoballs until after Christmas and that they should do everything to co-operate with the shopping public, to which they heartily agreed.

a relationship must be made a part of the ensemble for the security of all the states in the Mediterranean basin.

Today was a day of cleaning up loose ends for the council of the League of Nations, before adjourning until Jan. 10.

The French foreign minister left for Paris after broadcasting a speech, the keynote of which was "the league has once more well shown its merit for peace-making."

Compromise Reached

GENEVA, Dec. 11.—A compromise with Hungary on the short end and Yugoslavia on the long—has laid the ghost of King Alexander and Foreign Minister Louis Barthelemy, but many League of Nations observers wondered today if further friction in the Balkans had merely been temporarily averted.

Hungary consented to the termination of the quarrel through a resolution that indirectly blamed "certain Hungarian authorities" for complicity in the Marseilles assassinations only after repeated telephone conversations between Tibor Eckhardt here and Premier Julius Gombos in Budapest.

The resolution was finally adopted by the league council by unanimous vote at a midnight session—the first night meeting in six years. With the Yugoslavian-Hungarian question side-tracked at least until the January session, the league council directed its attention today to cleaning up details of the Jan. 13 plebiscite in the Saar Basin.

No Enthusiasm At Budapest

BUDAPEST, Dec. 11.—Hungary today received without enthusiasm, and in some quarters with bitterness, news of the Geneva compromise in the dispute with Yugoslavia.

The implication, however, remote, that Hungary was responsible for the assassination of King Alexander was resented by the press, while most newspapers continued to complain against the treatment of the 2,977 deportees from Yugoslavia. They demanded that the exiles be taken back to Yugoslavia and paid indemnity.

The influx of refugees across the border had ceased today.

Yugoslavia Rejoices

BELGRADE, Dec. 11.—Yugoslavia rejoiced in the League of Nations resolution calling upon Hungary to punish those responsible for the Marseilles assassinations today as a victory, not as a compromise.

The official attitude was conventionally reflected in a government denial that Bogoljub Yevitch, the foreign minister who represented Yugoslavia at Geneva, intended to resign.

"It is ridiculous," the statement said, "to suggest that M. Yevitch will resign at the moment of his greatest triumph."

county, where thermometers recorded a low of five degrees below zero. At Oil City a low of seven about was reached.

Temperatures at Pittsburgh's weather bureau were officially reported at 12 above shortly before sunrise and had only reached 15 degrees by mid-morning. Suburban districts recorded lower temperatures, with the lowest being six degrees above at Mt. Lebanon.

Receding mercury throughout Central Pennsylvania reflected the chilling breaths of icy winds that blasted down the valleys of the state out of the northwest. At Harrisburg a minimum of 18 degrees above zero was reported.

Reports from Philadelphia showed the eastern section of the state had thus far escaped the center of the cold wave. A minimum of 22 degrees above was recorded there.

To make a fall suit warm enough for winter a housewife placed inexpensive pieces of chamdois skin between the material and lining. She sewed two pieces onto the seams a top front and two into the back and sleeves. Now the suit is very warm and the chamdois can be removed for warmer weather.

Wedding plans were revealed to a group of intimate girl friends at a delightfully informal party given by Miss Bertha Jinks, a sister, in the home of Mrs. Viola Healy, on Wilmington avenue. The event was in the form of a kitchen shower and after showering the honoree with lovely presents, the guests played bridge, 500 and bingo. Prizes fell to Misses Beryl Emery, Jean Locke, Jean Parker and Elizabeth Hope. Mrs. Chester Montgomery, nee Jean Horton, a bride of November, was also honored with a beautiful gift.

The couple was presented with some lovely gifts of silver, after which the women in the group brought forth a most deliciously prepared lunch, along with some beautiful roses and mums, with which they adorned the small tables when they served.

Marshall, the paper leading into beautiful Christmas carols, in which all the members participated under the leadership of Mrs. F. E. Stough. Mrs. Frank Fischer shared the afternoon's pleasures.

The next meeting is scheduled for January 7, at the home of Mrs. Ira Fulkerson, Edgewood avenue.

CALLING ALL CARS

DO YOU, Mr. Motorist, ever grow impatient when your car is held up by traffic lights at a seemingly vacant intersection to beat them? It may interest you to know that, last year, 326,000 accidents occurred at intersections and cross-roads, resulting in 6,330 fatalities and 378,300 injuries.

Or, possibly, in a desire to get home in a hurry, you've passed other cars on hill tops and curves. That practice killed 140 people last year and injured 5,530.

Again, you've seen cars weave in and out of traffic—maybe you've done it yourself when traffic was moving too slowly to suit you. The price of that in 1933 was 3,000 fatalities and 185,000 injuries.

You've seen children playing in the street, oblivious to traffic. Almost 50,000 such children were involved in accidents last year—and 1,680 were killed and 48,000 injured.

Driving on the wrong side of the road is still another of the tricks of the careless or incompetent driver. Last year this "motoring crime" was responsible for 1,270 lives and 71,000 injuries.

And finally, here's one for the pedestrians—jaywalking resulted in more than 3,000 deaths in 1933. Think that over when you're not driving. Then think of it again when you get behind the wheel—it may save the life of a pedestrian.

So it goes, throughout the whole automobile accident category. Last year's death total was around 35,000—and nearly every life was lost unnecessarily. Is taking chances worth that?

NATIONAL DRIVE ON DOPE TRAFFIC

The government's spectacular drive against narcotic addicts and peddlers is a hopeful indication that the war on crime is not to stop with the extermination or capture of the more highly publicized public enemies of the gangster type.

The sudden foray that gathered in several hundred dope traffic suspects served notice to criminals throughout the country that the federal crusade against outlaw forces is not confined to gunmen and kidnapers.

Whatever may be the influence of narcotics upon the growth of crime in its more general sense, dope itself is a killer and should be treated as such. The tearful pleas of Cleveland mothers that something be done to shield their children from the wiles of importunate drug agents is eloquent testimony of the insidious dangers that surround school pupils.

The federal authorities can not afford to let their campaign subside after one raid of nation-wide scope. The hundreds arrested are few compared with the number of addicts and agents still at large. Gigantic raids, unless followed quickly by an intensive and continued mop-up, merely drive further under cover the more nefarious operations of the traffic.

Having begun its narcotic drive, the government should keep at it with the same relentless and tireless perseverance with which it tracked down the members of the Dillinger gang.

And it should demand segregation or exemplary punishment, knowing that no mob of machine-gun bandits was upon society with such infamous cunning, such devious destructiveness as does the dope racket.

THE PROBLEM BEFORE DEMOCRATS

Difficulties that the new governor and legislature of Pennsylvania are going to encounter soon after the first of the year can scarcely be overestimated. And chief among these will be the matter of state finances.

The Pennsylvania State Chamber of Commerce has recently completed a survey of the state's fiscal position. According to the figures gathered by this organization, the state's income for the next biennium, or two-year period, will approximate $148,000,000. In this figure is included $10,000,000 from liquor store profits.

On the other hand, the state's expenses for this two-year period are reckoned by the Chamber of Commerce at $326,000,000, or a figure $178,000,000 greater than the expected income of the state. The only way to balance the state budget, in the light of this expected deficit, is a tremendous increase in taxation.

Granted that state expenditures as estimated by the Chamber of Commerce are a bit too high. It is virtually impossible to lop more than $25,000,000 off this figure without greatly curtailing or completely eliminating many state functions.

How the Democrats expect to solve this financial problem is more than they themselves know. Governor-elect Earle has named five prominent Pennsylvanians to make a survey of the state's fiscal situation and suggest what can be done about it. This, too, is a tough task. Pennsylvania must raise more funds. This is the one thing evident.

Daughter still helps. She keeps good numbers on the radio while mother does the dishes.

The world may not seem to improve, but think how long since you have met a high handshake.

Pennsylvanians who survived the election will have the first Democratic governor in 44 years.

Keeping the marriage secret isn't silly if that is the only way to make Dad keep on supporting the gal.

The first essential in being an ideal host is the co-operation of somebody who knows how to be a guest.

All people are proud of something. If they never learned good manners, they are proud of being frank.

The bureaus at Washington have been told to cut the costs, it being out of the question to cut out any bureaus.

College, says a professor, teaches you to think. And if you miss college, you can get the same result from a wife and six kids.

Texas complains that her rainmakers failed to produce the desired rain. Have they tried washing the car or having their suits pressed?

They are saying now at Washington that the policy of midcourse on the bonus will make new taxes inevitable. Why don't they just say that new taxes are inevitable, and let it go at that?

All Of Us

I BELIEVE IN FUN

I BELIEVE IN FUN.
I put my faith in Laughter.
I believe we are here on this earth to be Joyous. I believe in smiles, chuckles, snorts, grins, winks, gurgles, howls, hiccoughs, roars, hearty laughter, laughs that echo from the sea to the hills and loosen the mighty boulders and send them bumping and bounding down to the foaming waves.

I believe in Fun everywhere.
In childhood, in youth, in middle age, in old age.
In play, and in work.
In love, in marriage.
In painting, in gardening, in writing, in the making of music and the carving of stone, in playing bridge and preparing a meal, in the creation of beauty, in wrestling, in football, in taking a journey and in staying at home.

In all that we do and are, I believe in Fun.

It is my faith, and I believe it should be the faith of all other men. If you do not agree, I shall not persecute, I shall not proselytize against you, I shall not even argue with you. Look sour if you wish. Turn down the corners of your mouth. Growl, scowl and snarl—what do I care? I'll try to laugh at you.

It is my faith, though I am not true to it. I fail it, as you fail yours. I let you climb upon my shoulders. I view with alarm, and anguish over little things. Thus I sin against my deeply rooted faith. But though I fail, though I sigh, though I pipe my eye and let the salt tears flow, I believe in Fun and find no joy in sadness.

Did the wise Ralph Waldo Emerson once solemnly remark: "I do not wish to be amused!" Then the wise Ralph Waldo Emerson was no sage upon that occasion, but close to being a fool. I, for one, do wish to be amused. I wish to be a laughing, joyous world for all men, all women, all little children wherever they may clutch their mother's skirts and shyly smile at smiling strangers.

I believe in Fun—and I could weep that healing, hearty laughter comes so rarely to the lips of men!

UNFOUNDED STORIES BREAK UP MANY FRIENDSHIPS

Do you quickly jump to conclusions and, in consequence, learn afterward how poorly founded were your decisions?

You have lost some good friends because you were too ready to believe certain stories that have reached you.

If you had waited for explanations, you might have delayed your conclusions and kept a friend.

It is surprising how many will accept as truth unfavorable reports about friends.

True friends, however, will not believe derogatory stories until they have been proven beyond a doubt, and then even will hear the friend's side before passing adverse judgment.

You have been hearing of unkind things which a supposed friend has said about you and, in accepting them as true, have begun to try to dig up derogatory facts against the one you think has maligned you.

That shows you are mean on two counts.

The one in not giving the person a chance to refute the statements; the other in trying to reward unkindness by doing in turn something just as bad.

Don't circulate stories; friends are hard to make, so try to keep them.

JUST TALK

A lank, disconsolate looking farmer stood on the steps of a public hall where a candidate was holding forth, when a stranger approached.

"Do you know who's talking in there now?" asked the stranger, "or are you just going in?"

"No, I've just come out," said the farmer. "A member of the Legislature is talking in there."

"What about?"

"Well," replied the farmer passing his hand across his brow, "he didn't say."

WORK AND REST

Sometimes I think I'd rather be Adrift upon a sun-kissed sea Watching the white clouds in the sky

Like canvased vessels floating by; But whosoever fancy seems To lead me in the land of dreams, However gay the splendors shown, I am compelled to go alone.

Sometimes when wearied of my care And gray mists settle everywhere, I think it would be nice to slip From duty's everlasting grip And turn my back on tasks and things

Which each returning morning brings; But always dreaming thus I find My friends I've had to leave behind.

And now I know 'tis not away That happy long a man can stay. No man wants absolute relief From weariness and pain and grief And doubt and fear and daily care, For these are things which friendships share.

'Tis at the task and not at rest That man is truly happiest.

Hints and Dints

Sun sets tonight 4:35. Sun rises tomorrow 7:12.

We read of a lady who wants a divorce because her husband slapped her, did not want anyone to visit her, and also became angry over her opinion on a political matter. Politics should not be discussed in families where there are other reasons for quarreling.

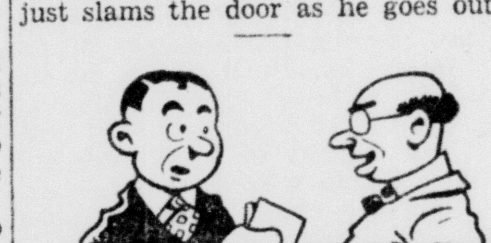

The people who think the world is flat are about right just now.

A person, man or woman, must be at least 30 years old to become a United States senator. There are also a few other requirements, and the most important one is enough votes.

VIRTUOUS GHOST

The difference between a roughneck and a gentleman in a domestic squabble is that the gentleman just slams the door as he goes out.

A specialist is a man who charges you $25 for advising you to consult somebody else.

A Pittsburgh man got a divorce from his wife because he found her in her bedroom drinking highballs with another man when he came home from work. That would be a fair reason for a divorce.

The honeymoon is over when he says, "Gawd, but you're a rotten cook, sweetheart."

When the dictators want to get rid of someone who attempts to rival them they just fire them and take on the job themselves.

Of course, we love the common people, if for no better reason than because there are so many of us.

"Man claiming to be John Smith here. Very drunk. Await identification."

"Back came the answer: 'Identification complete. Please pay money.'"

The World At A Glance

No Hope For Townsend Plan.
Believe Scheme Not Practical.Central Press
New York Bureau
225 East 45th Street.By LESLIE EICHEL
Central Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 11—We shall answer many correspondents today—on the Townsend old age pension plan.

The majority of the letters we receive pertain to that plan. The writer of this column believes in an old age pension. There will be one. But the Townsend pension plan does not seem sound. It might create more damage than good. For one thing, it would not "redistribute" wealth. It would, on the contrary (so it seems to this writer) take still more from the great mass of people and would further enslave the people to monopolies rather than free them.

The battle of old age is the same as the battle of present-day youth—it is a battle for security of all the great mass of people, rather than privilege for a few.

The giving of $200 a month by the government to old people does not strike at the roots of our present evils. In fact, it might perpetuate the evils of today—until youth still shackled, throw off its shackles in great anger.

This statement may cause sorrow to the readers of this column who have been bombarded the writer for an opinion on the Townsend plan. But the majority requested a frank and honest opinion.

Some friends of the writer's believe thoroughly in the Townsend plan—other friends look upon it in horror. To those in favor we say: "It would be wiser for the people to insist that their government go into this great and necessary reform to the very roots than to give themselves over to plans that strike at no fundamentals. There can be no cure for the present maladjustments through cure-alls or tonics. Only major operations will save us—and, in the process, we must expect the loss of some of us."

"In our present weariness it is only natural that we seek a drug to provide rest and sweet dreams—but that may be the coma of death rather than the elixir of life."

TOWNSEND PLAN
The Townsend plan, evolved by Dr. F. E. Townsend, of Long Beach, Cal., is explained by Old Age Revolving Pensions, L. of Long Beach, "a non-profit California corporation the sole purpose of which is the securing of the enactment of this legislation."

"The Townsend plan of old age revolving pensions calls upon the national government to assume this function: the function of starting and maintaining the circulation of a large amount of actual money throughout the entire nation equally distributed as to population, benefitting all classes alike.

"It demands the passage of a national law that will permit every citizen, male or female, who has attained the age of 60 years or over and who is not an habitual criminal to apply for and to receive a pension of $200 per month until death upon the condition that he take oath to spend for commodities or services the entire amount of the pension within the confines of the United States during the current month in which it is received and shall refrain from all productive labor or occupation.

"Simultaneously, it demands a law establishing a federal retail sales tax calculated at a rate (low on necessities, high on luxuries) just sufficient to raise the money necessary for the pension roll."

IT MUST BE "NO"
Readers of this column write in great numbers that they have faith in the honesty of expression in this column.

Thus, to the many readers who have written in on the Townsend plan (especially from California) we can only say if we are to speak our true convictions.

"We have not the slightest faith in the Townsend plan. It is not money turnover, or additional activity, cash that will bring either security or prosperity. In fact, it is likely to bring the contrary. Money will decrease in value and buy less and prices will rise for those least able to bear them, under this plan."

"The government by all means ought to provide an old age pension, as well as unemployment and sick insurance—but real security lies in a 'war' obtaining the wealth in a 'war' himself creates. And the wealth of a government is no more than the creative production of all its citizens. Even for the aged the inevitable economic laws cannot be budged—that which is not created cannot be spent."

"It is far wiser to open the way for youth to create wealth, as far better to strike at the root of maladjustment. If you do not, all will crash anyway. The way to hope, the way to the promised land even for the very weary, is a more rugged path than the phantasmagoria of a Townsend plan."

Probe Deeper In Munitions Case

Investigate Activity of American Army and Naval Officers In Munitions Sales

NEW SENSATIONS ARE PROMISED

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—The far-flung activity of American army and navy officers in aiding American munitions firms to sell their armaments abroad was investigated today at the senate munitions inquiry.

The senate committee promised fresh sensations, after having revealed an almost universal system of governmental corruption in sales of munitions to Balkan, Latin-American, South American and Oriental nations. War ministers and finance ministers or their close friends were paid commissions time after time, it was shown. Senators characterized these deals as bribery of public schools.

Two new anticipated sensations were said to involve army officers. In one instance, a high army officer offered to help E. I. Dupont de Nemours & Company negotiate a deal with the Polish government. In another, an army officer offered to use his influence on the secretary of state, Cordell Hull, to soften the effects of any embargo on arms shipments.

The committee also was determined to find out why the Dupont Company employs so many former army officers in high positions.

Federal Charges Filed Against Three In Holdup At Fairfield, Pa., Bank

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Dec. 11.—Federal charges under the new and severe bank robbery laws were lodged today against three men charged with staging the $3700 holdup of the Fairfield National Bank at Fairfield, Adams County, about two weeks ago.

The suspects, all in the Dauphin county jail, were John Fedorka, John Kralj and Anthony Rayk. Rayk was held in $50,000 bail by United States Commissioner Sidney Friedman here and the same heavy bail was expected to be asked of the others.

Stadium Taxing Plans Held Up

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Dec. 11.—As city tax officials today indicated they would endeavor to tax Pittsburgh University stadium, the battle over the huge bowl's classification continued.

University authorities are fighting efforts of the city and county to levy a tax on the stadium, contending that it is a part of the institution's educational facilities, and that it has been "a losing proposition". County tax authorities have decided to withhold their decision on the matter of taxing the stadium pending examination of an itemized account of the operating expenses for athletics at the university.

When this statement was made here previously, we added that the lines were interpolated in the play by Colley Cibber, H. W. You're Wrong If You Believe— That Shakespeare was the author of the phrase, "A horse, a horse, my kingdom for a horse," bespoken in Richard III. He wasn't.

Printed 48 years before Colley Cibber was born. Nevertheless, Shakespeare wasn't the originator of the lines. They (and Richard's reference to the ghosts of his victims crying for revenge) are found in The True Tragedies of Richard the Third, a play, written before Shakespeare's. The principal historical source for the play was Holinshed's Chronicles of England, Scotland and Ireland. Other lines were inserted in Richard III by Colley Cibber.

This is doubters' day. H. S. Herring, San Antonio, Tex., doubts our statement that Thomas Chatterton, poetic genius, died at 26, and he is right. Actually he poisoned himself at 18. Mr. Herring adds: "I particularly like your habit of giving credit where credit is due, i. e., Balchen and Byrd, etc."

Steedle Facing Perjury Charge

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 11.—Convicted on charges of vote fraud conspiracy, Dr. Joseph G. Steedle, veteran McKees Rocks political leader and assemblyman, was to go on trial today on a perjury charge. The case against Steedle is said to be based on the testimony he gave before a federal grand jury investigating the 1932 congressional elections. His conviction of last May 24 was on charges growing out of those elections.

In ill health, Dr. Steedle at present is free under bond pending his appeal from a two-year sentence imposed following his conviction on the vote fraud charge.

WORLD CHRISTMAS TOPIC OF TALK

The Quota club of New Castle held its regular dinner meeting last evening at the Elks club at 6 o'clock. Salvatore Cresce, one of the young violinists who is rapidly rising to fame, accompanied by Mrs. D. Duff Scott, entertained with a group of violin solos.

The party for the children at Crawford Oakridge has been changed from the twenty-first to Thursday, the twentieth.

Reported Success For Tuberculosis Serum Is Doubted

Two Colorado Prisoners Who Offered Selves For Experiment Have Proved
Nothing

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Dec. 11.—Reported success of experiments with a serum for the prevention of tuberculosis was regarded with skepticism by medical authorities here today.
Two Colorado convicts who gamble their lives for their freedom in testing the serum have not proved the case for the new preventative, doctors indicated.
Each of the men was inoculated with the serum, and neither contracted the dread plague, as a result, they have been promised their release from jail for their risks as "human guinea pigs."
A spokesman for the Allegheny County Medical society, declaring that the results might or might not mean anything, said:
"One would have to look at it with a good deal of skepticism until it has been given to people who can test the thing themselves. Almost every month someone comes out with a cure and gets a good deal of publicity—and that's all you hear of it."

new Dodge for 1935," says Karl F.

Lueder, of New York, purchasing

"It has value! It looks like a $1,000

it for so much less. My hat is off to thorough quality at a popular price."

Vets Have But Few More Days To Get "Bonus"

Applications For Adjusted Compensation Must Be Filed Before January 2

RED CROSS WILL AID APPLICANTS

World war veterans have only a few more days in which they may make application for their adjusted service certificates, commonly referred to as "the bonus." Warning is given by Secretary Potter of the Lawrence County Chapter, American Red Cross, that applications must be filed by the veterans on or before January 2, 1935, when benefits under the measure which secures this adjusted compensation, will cease.

Application forms for veterans or their dependents, who have not already filed, may be secured at the rooms of the Lawrence County Chapter, South Mercer street.

Adjusted compensation is payable to veterans who served sixty days or more, part of which was between April 5, 1917, and November 12, 1918. A credit of $1 per day for home service and 1.25 per day for overseas service is allowed, which sum is used to purchase a paid up life insurance policy, which approximates three times the amount allowed for service.

If the amount accrued is not over $50, it is paid in cash, but if it amounts to more than that sum, the certificate is issued payable in cash at the end of twenty years, or to his designated beneficiary at death. The law permits veterans to borrow fifty per cent of the value of the certificate immediately, on which an interest rate of three and one-half per cent is charged.

If the veteran died in service, or before applying, his widow, minor children, or dependent mother or father, is eligible to receive this benefit.

No payment will be made to father and mother unless dependent at death of veteran or prior to January 2, 1935. If the parents are, or were over 60 years of age, at the time of the death of the veteran, dependency is presumed. If the sum is less than $50, it will be paid immediately. If over $50 it will be paid in ten quarterly payments.

Seek Revision Of School Code

State Teachers League Recommends Eliminating Of Unnecessary Costs

(International News Service) HARRISBURG, Dec. 11.—Revision of the state's school code to eliminate unnecessary costs of education and discrimination against classroom teachers was recommended in a legislative program adopted by the Pennsylvania State Teachers' League.

Legislation also will be sought by the league for the consolidation of school districts as an economy measure. The league completed its program after a study of suggestions of teachers from all parts of the state.

Other points in the program called for restoration of pay cuts to classroom teachers; elimination of inequalities in the teachers' retirement act; enactment of a tenure law which would provide security of employment to teachers who have served a district a certain number of years, and legislation reducing the number of available teachers.

Scouters Rally At Camp Over Sunday; Cold No Handicap

Scoutmastership Elements Are Taught To Group; Fifteen To Qualify

Wintry weather held no terrors for the group of scout leaders who met at Camp Phillips over the weekend for the "Part Two, Elements of Scoutmastership" training course. Several groups contributed to the work, the Girl Scouts loaned a number of cots, William Wheeler, of the Pennsylvania Engineering company, shaped up a steel plate for the cabin fireplace; Bob McConaghy and Robert Allen did the necessary bricklaying for the plate, and the faculty did fine work. B. K. Thacker, county chairman of leader training, attended and spoke on one of the topics. W. Boyd Barrett, Ellwood district training chairman, was on hand, and the following leaders handled their assigned topics in a fine manner: Glenn Throop and Doc Lutz, mapmaking; Harry Miles and Sid Smith, on a lecture topic and signalling and laying trails; J. Arthur Turek, nature study; Doc Lutz, star study, and last but not least, John Wilson, chief extraordinary, who steered the cooking through a stormy course, but who was never at a loss to do the right thing. Wilson also said that the "twist" cooking done by the men this year, surpassed anything he had seen up to this time. It is no easy job to bake bread in the open with snow underfoot, but some really creditable samples were turned out.

Mapmaking was the topic on Saturday afternoon, and the "students" got a new idea of this science through the work of their instructors. After supper there were several talks and informal discussion. Round table discussion, long after the regular periods were over, was featured at 11 o'clock by coffee and cinnamon rolls. Bedtime came at—well, why worry? All hands certainly got up in time for breakfast, and a nature study discussion was followed by an outdoor period which then terminated in time for the church service; a chapter from the Book of Job being discussed. Preparing dinner then followed.

The afternoon periods went swiftly, ending with Prof. B. K. Thacker's talk on "Dangers and Pitfalls of Boys," after the men unravelled a half mile of trail signs. At 3:30 the men formed up for the living circle ceremony, and the training course was concluded.

Fifteen scouts will qualify for this course diploma as soon as they complete their reading assignments: Ralph Main, James McCowin, James Clark, William Dickinson, C. W. Ketterer, K. L. Ketterer, T. Colnut, J. A. Turek, W. Paul, Frank Hay, E. D. Hawk, Ed Schlossberg, Z. Gerlach and Robert Allen. (Hawk had already taken this course, but he turned to with Wilson and gave some fine service in the cooking end.)

Several scouts from New Castle V-18 were giving service in collecting wood, assisting in serving, and making themselves generally useful. The assistance of all who contributed in any way to the course, is greatly appreciated. Men who complete the reading assignments will be presented diplomas during Anniversary Week exercises.

Warfel Compares Methods Used In Raising Pheasants

Superintendent Of Jordan State Game Farm Author Of Game News Article

In addition to spending many busy hours in propagating pheasants for the Pennsylvania State Game Commission V. T. Warfel, superintendent of the Jordan State Game Farm, finds time to do a little writing, as evidenced by an article in the current issue of Pennsylvania Game News, official publication of the game commission.

In this article, Mr. Warfel presents a comparison between the old method of propagating pheasants and the one now in use, showing how costs have been reduced, and of how more birds can be raised.

Auto Inspection System Lauded By Governor Pinchot

(International News Service) HARRISBURG, Dec. 11.—Calling attention to the compulsory automobile inspection campaign beginning January 1, Gov. Gifford Pinchot today declared "Pennsylvania is using all available resources to promote safety on our highways."

The inspection campaign continues through March 31 and during that period every automobile operated in the state must be officially approved as safe to drive.

"Previous campaigns have made real progress," the governor said. "Each one has found fewer cars which had to be repaired or adjusted when they were taken to official inspection stations."

"Despite the progress made thus far, only one of every four Pennsylvania owners keeps his car safe. Three out of every four cars taken to inspection stations during the second campaign of this year required adjustments."

The governor said dangerous cars "can be and are being removed from the roads through enforcement of the compulsory motor vehicle inspection laws."

Woman Sentenced To Five Years

Worthless Checks Totalling $300 Passed By Mrs. Martha Twigg Carothers

(International News Service) PITTSBURGH, Dec. 11.—Mrs. Martha Twigg Carothers was sentenced today to five years in the Allegheny county workhouse after she had pleaded guilty to passing 16 worthless checks totalling about $300.

The sentence, however, carried the stipulation that she be paroled after six months, and that during the parole period she make restitution.

Mrs. Carothers' confession cleared Mrs. Mildred Berhardt, Pittsburgh, whose resemblance to Mrs. Carothers had caused her arrest as the alleged check-passer.

Undertaker Is Held As Slayer

New York Italian Undertaker Kills Married Daughter And Confesses

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—Childish accusation today succeeded where police grilling had failed when John Santapelo, undertaker, confessed he slew his married daughter and seriously wounded her alleged lover because he considered the daughter was leading the life of "a scarlet woman."

Stoically withstanding repeated questions hurled by police cross-questioners, Santapelo suddenly broke down and sobbed out an incoherent admission when his daughter's children accused him.

"You killed my mother, grandpa," came the childish tremolo of seven-year-old Joseph Cincotta, as he pointed an accusing finger at his grandfather.

"Yeah, yeah, yeah," chimed in Joseph's three-year-old brother, John.

Santapelo's shoulders sagged. He grabbed both children in his arms and caressed them. Tears streamed down his cheeks as he sobbed:

"Yes, I killed her."

"She was a scarlet woman. I killed her because she was living a life of sin. I killed her to protect these two innocent boys from seeing what a mother they had."

Representation Plan Is Upheld

Company Workers At Weirton Steel, Clarksburg, For Employee Representation

(International News Service)
CLARKSBURG, W. Va., Dec. 11.—The Weirton Steel company's employee plan of representation was upheld by company workers at the Clarksburg plant in the collective bargaining "primaries," preliminary tabulation of the voting revealed today, according to E. H. Holt, chairman of the representation plan. On the basis of returns tabulated, candidates favoring the existing bargaining system at the company's plants were nominated in every instance, he said. Candidates of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers' group were reported as receiving only a few votes in each department.

Results of the "primaries," in which approximately 350 men were to be nominated to represent workers, at the Weirton and Steubenville plants of the company were expected to be made known later.

About 90 per cent of the company's 10,000 workers in the three plants participating in the voting, which was conducted without discord. The general election on worker representatives is to be held Friday.

Dr. Dafoe Will Go To Capital

Famous Canadian Doctor, Who Brought Dionne Quintuplets Into World, Is Bored

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—Dr. Allen Roy Dafoe, the north country doctor who ushered the five Dionne quintuplets into the world, today shared with other great men the unique experience of having addressed a sophisticated audience of New Yorkers in sophisticated Carnegie Hall.

Dr. Dafoe has more than a dislike for the spotlight. He is frankly contemptuous of it.

Throughout his speech and in his second day of rather hurried sight-seeing, the Ontario physician clung persistently to his half-humorous, skeptical point of view.

Today there'll be more sight-seeing... gadding about, as he terms it... and then he'll fly down to Washington to visit the Canadian minister. His sponsors didn't want him to fly, but the doctor is a persistent man. He won the argument.

Tifereth Israel Sisterhood Meets

In the Tifereth Israel Synagogue South Jefferson street, members of the Tifereth Israel Sisterhood held their regular monthly meeting on Monday evening.

During the course of the meeting Rabbi Cecil Shenson delivered an inspiring address. Miss Betty Aronson gave a most amusing reading. Several selections rendered by Miss Estelle Waldman, Mrs. Morris Slaven and Arthur Aronson were thoroughly enjoyed by the gathering. A duet by Miss Estelle Waldman and Arthur Aronson met with the approval of those present.

Plans were made for a dinner to be staged sometime this month. At an appropriate hour, dainty refreshments were served to 35 persons, on long tables which were artistically decorated. The hostesses included: Mrs. Wm. I. Markowitz, Mrs. Lew Kulkin, Mrs. Sam Slaven and Mrs. Morris Slaven. The meeting proved one of the most interesting of the year.

Miss Ida Levin of Boyles avenue and Miss Dorothy Levine of 207 Edison avenue were week-end guests of friends and relatives in Pittsburgh.

(International News Service) HARRISBURG, Dec. 11.—Graduates of beauty culture schools not registered by the Pennsylvania Department of Public Instruction may be examined for licenses to practice in this state, the department of justice ruled today in declaring unconstitutional section 4 of beautician's licensing act.

The ruling was written for Dr. James N. Rule, superintendent of public instruction by Harry C. Arnold, deputy attorney general, in reply to Dr. Rule's request for an opinion on whether he could admit to examination graduates from schools not "registered" in this state as required in the law.

There is more to a rock garden than rocks. The most successful rock garden is the one so constructed as to provide conditions and locations to which the various classes of plants are adapted, rather than to expect the plants to change their natures and become adapted to these. New Studebaker Cars On Display

New 1935 Models Being Shown At Barnes-Snyder Company

The new 1935 Studebaker automobiles arrived in New Castle Monday and are on display today at the showrooms of the Barnes-Snyder Motor Co., 122 N. Mercer street, local Studebaker dealers.

These 1935 models are new in styling, in beauty, in comfort, in performance. Motorists who have already had the privilege to view the new Studebakers are enthusiastic in their applause of these brand new offerings of the famous 82-year old manufacturer.

In styling their new models, Studebaker body engineers obviously designed the model attained goal of "distinct personality." No other American cars look like the 1935 Studebaker, yet the lines cannot be called radical. They are truly new, yet beautifully in keeping with the lines favored by the majority of American motorists.

There are many new mechanical features in addition to compound hydraulic brakes. Free wheeling and automatic switch key are standard on Presidents and Commanders and optional at extra cost on Dictators.

The new 1935 Studebakers will be produced in three lines of cars, a complete assortment of body models being available in each group. The three groups and their base f.

o. b. factory prices are: The President, $1245; the Commander, $895; the Dictator, $695.

The local dealers extend a cordial invitation to the public to visit their showrooms to inspect these new models.

EVENING HOURS OPEN NEXT WEEK

Work of putting up the decorations for Christmas was started by a force of employees of the Pennsylvania Power Company yesterday, and will be completed within a few more days, after which the current will be turned on, and the downtown section will be ablaze with a myriad of colored lights.

Festoons are being placed across the street at regular intervals, and in addition to this, it is planned to place a Christmas tree in front of every business house, which will also be covered with colored lights.

Following a meeting of the Merchants Division of the New Castle Chamber of Commerce, it was decided to inaugurate evening hours, starting with Thursday evening, December 20.

By the end of the week, the real spirit of Christmas will be manifested throughout the downtown section, and Christmas buying is expected to be stimulated as a result.

Continuance of the case of Frank Schiraldi, Sr., until the March term of court was granted by Judge Chambers today. He is charged with a serious offense against his daughter. Continuance was granted on account of the absence of his son, Frank Schiraldi, Jr., a material witness.

Subpoena in divorce was granted today in the case of Ann Agnes Cearfoss against Nelson M. Cearfoss. The application has been made on the grounds of desertion.

In the estate of Eleanor Hidvegl, her guardian, The Lawrence Savings and Trust Company, was authorized to pay Sarah Zeigler, a grandmother, with whom she is living, $50 for school expenses. Eleanor's father is deceased and her mother has remarried.

Prothonotary R. M. Campbell has received copies of opinions in the cases of The Lawrence Savings and Trust Company against John B. Thorson Company, and others, and W. J. and Sarah Campbell against Nellie Humphrey. In the former case the supreme court sustained the opinion of Judge James A. Chambers, relative to the right of the Trust Company to renew certain liens against real estate which had been disclaimed by the trustee in bankruptcy.

In the Campbell case which grew out of a suit to recover damages for an automobile accident in Slippery Rock the verdict in the Lawrence county court was in favor of the defendant, Nellie Humphrey. An application for a new trial was refused by Judge Chambers, and his action is sustained by the higher court.

A man who was recently granted a divorce in the Lawrence county court came to the prothonotary's office to-day with an inquiry as to whether or not it was necessary for him to have a copy of the divorce decree in case he wished to remarry. He was informed that if he wished to take out a marriage license here, it would not be necessary for him to have a copy of his divorce, but if he proposes to make application elsewhere a copy would be needed. He secured the copy.

Norman P. Mortensen, trustee of a mortgage pool in connection with the receivership of the First National Bank of Ellwood City, presented a petition in court, asking leave to distribute the proceeds of Home Owners Loan Corporation bonds which he has taken in the refinancing of mortgages. The petition showed that he has received $63,425 in bonds. There are $14,400 in process of delivery and $18,225 which have been approved. The bonds are deposited with the Union Trust Company of this city and Mr. Mortensen was authorized to make distribution in conformity with a previous order of court.

In the case of Dr. Elmer B. Russell against James G. Patterson, executor and others, a motion of defendant to strike off plaintiffs motion for judgment is made absolute and the judgment is stricken off, as is also the sheriff's return. The case involves a $5000 mortgage and it will now be tried on its merits.

Clerks employed by the county treasurer in writing up the county tax duplicates for the delinquent tax collectors, were moved yesterday from the jury rooms down to the corridor of the court house, the jury rooms being needed while court is in session. Janitors Clifford James and Firemen E. C. McCracken, erected a partition that is used during elections in the front of the building west of the treasurer's office, in order to assure the clerks more privacy.

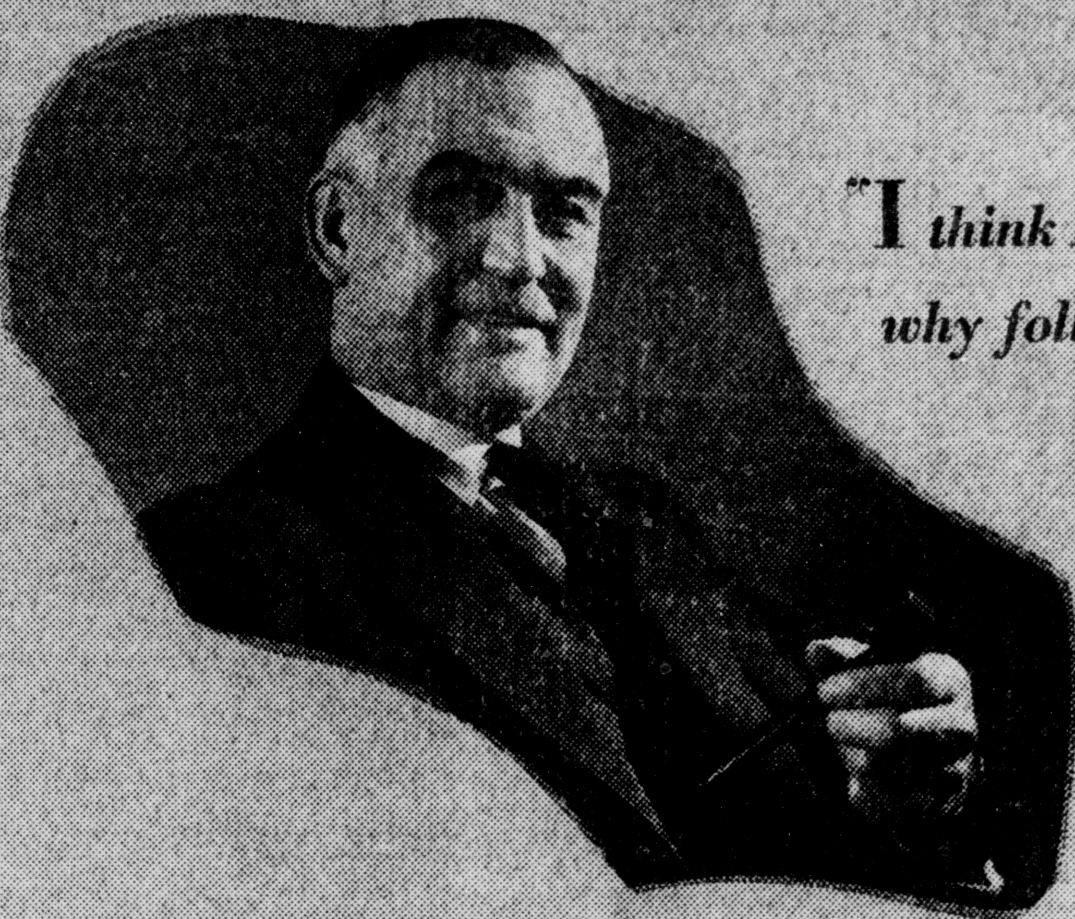

Home Owners Loan Corporation filed twenty-six mortgages last week totaling over $65,000.

START WORK ON CRIME SUPPRESSION PROGRAM

President Asks For Cooperation

Roosevelt Makes Address At Opening Of Conference In New York

ATTORNEY GENERAL CUMMINGS AT HEAD

By THOMAS F. CULLEN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—Responding to the call of President Roosevelt for the backing of every man, woman and adolescent child in the cause of law enforcement, the National Crime Conference today started deliberations that are expected to result in the greatest program yet conceived by the federal government for the suppression of crime.

Calling upon the delegates from all the states of the Union, representing 88 organizations interested in law enforcement, the President, in opening the conference last night, asked for a constructive program of action in which the people might participate.

"It is heartening and reassuring to the people of the United States that you have gathered here," said the President. "They have a right to expect from you a constructive program of action in which they as individuals, and collectively as communities and organizations, may participate."

Pays Tribute To Officials
Mr. Roosevelt paid tribute to the men and women who have served the cause of law enforcement but urged the construction of a "constantly improving administrative structure which will, together every crime preventing, law enforcing agency of every branch of government—the federal government, the forty-eight state governments and all the local governments."

Declaring that the law enforcement officers throughout the country have rendered devoted, conscientious and effective service, often under exasperating and hazardous circumstances, the President said, "Their effectiveness has unfortunately been impaired because of inadequate organization, unsound administration and lack of public support and understanding."

"In many instances," he said, "we may as well, frankly admit, bandits have been better equipped and better organized than have the officials who are supposed to keep them in check."

"This is particularly true because of the lack of coordination between local agencies within the states."

Pointing out that other things have contributed to this problem he mentioned the lack of facilities for training peace officers and lack of facilities for the study and supervision of certain types of criminals capable of rehabilitation.

Urges Better Preparation
Attorney General Cummings, who called the conferences, urged the need for cooperative action and for methods of better selections, training of law enforcement personnel and the establishment of modern laboratory facilities for work in criminal detection and apprehension.

Urging the establishment of a national institute of criminology he said, "We must have a national scientific and educational center for work in this field."

Former Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson asked for the continued cooperation between federal officers and local police.

Cummings was elected permanent chairman of the conference while Justin Miller, his aide was elected secretary.

Today's session was devoted to a discussion of criminal detection and apprehension, by J. Edgar Hoover, director of the division of investigation; commercial racketeering, by John J. Bennett, attorney general of New York; modern youth and crime, by Charles W. Hoffman, Cincinnati, judge; and interstate compacts for crime control, by Gordon Dean.

It is great in his power of restrained, effective speech, and reminds you of a big engine exhibited at the centennial exposition. Its demonstrator repeated each day:

"It can crack a hickory nut with safety for your fingers, or flatten out a heavy bar of steel."

MILLIONS of Americans will be delighted to hear that the President's health is perfect, his physical strength abundant, promising a long life, and his courage limitless.

Those who believed that national escape from depression troubles depends on the continued health of the President need not worry.

THIS IS about Washington, some things and people there. Leaving the Union railroad station in the evening you see first the Capitol's dome bathed in artificial white light. It looks solid and comforting. Address it, saying:

"You have seen the beginning and end of many other depressions, and you will see the end of this one."

How many brains have worked under that white dome in the process of building the United States to its present height.

How many mothers, greater because they will have greater knowledge, will work there through centuries to come, building the name of this country still higher.

YOU DRIVE by gigantic buildings that you did not know, a new Department of Justice, very massive. Would that our control of crime were as substantial. A Department of Commerce twice as big as any building we ever built before. If only we had enough commerce to fill it.

You come to an old friend, the straight monument built for George Washington, and find it surrounded from bottom to top, with a strange scaffolding of steel. In these days of pouring out money for buildings and other things it has been decided to give Washington's monument a bath.

THE MEN that work on it seem like the Lilliputians, swarming over Gulliver.

You can hardly believe that the monument is already old enough to need scraping and dressing up, especially if you remember, as this individual does, when the monument was starting, and Gen. Grant, short and portly, with his usual cigar, used to walk down from the White House, across the muddy Potomac flats, to watch the monument's progress and look at big stone blocks lying about, sent from many states.

ONLY A little before that, when the President of the United States felt that he must have a bath, he walked still farther over the flats and took his bath in the Potomac river, drying himself as he stood on the bank.

There was an outcry. "Effeminate, extravagant, un-American," when it was first suggested that a bathtub be installed in the White House, with hot and cold water and soap. The project was abandoned in the name of patriotism and "simple, rugged Americanism."

But there are baths in the White House now, and a patriotic, simple and VERY RUGGED President living there.

A FEW hours in Washington (this was Saturday) make it possible to many that are important; for instance, Mr. Chief Justice Hughes. He looks exactly as he did 30 years ago, except that his beard has changed from dark brown to white. His eyes have not changed, he stands straight as a white pine. It is better to have your beard turn white than to have your eyes turn dull. That has not happened to the Chief Justice.

His position calls for knowledge and courage; knowledge of law and history, courage to ignore the applause or protests of the world.

AND MR. GARNER, Vice President, his face the color of a ripe chestnut when the shell first opens, after his vacation of shooting and fishing in Texas.

You feel power in that man at a considerable distance, and his cheerful expression tells you that he sees the good side of not having NRA and all the other letters of the alphabet loaded on your back at once.

IT MAY interest you to know what the wisest politicians in Washington are now discussing, and consider a most important political development. They put it in seven words. "THE NEGROES HAVE LEARNED TO VOTE DEMOCRATIC."

They have come to realize that Abraham Lincoln is dead and buried, whereas Franklin D. Roosevelt is alive, and distributing bakshesh. Much power in bakshesh.

Congressman Mitchell, from Chicago, who will take his seat among the lawmakers in a few days, is the first Democratic colored man ever sent to Congress. And do not overlook the fact pointed out by the very able Frank Hitchcock, who was postmaster general:

"In several important states the colored vote holds the balance of power."

AND THE President himself, amazing in his physical vigor and incisive, penetrating speech, after nearly two years of work and responsibility that might have crushed a dozen ordinary men.

You hear him make a speech, and for the third or fourth time, having seen him three or four times together, you realize that he is in every way a much greater man than you thought.

State Farmers May Get U. S. Cash

New Corn-Hog Program Is Announced By Government

MUST AGREE TO MAKE REDUCTIONS

HARRISBURG, Dec. 11.—A new corn-hog reduction program, now available to thousands of Pennsylvania farmers, has been announced by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration in Washington.

The farmer must agree to reduce his 1935 field corn acreage and the number of hogs produced for market, at least 10 per cent below his 1932-1933 base. The base for corn is the average planted for all purposes in these two years and the base for hogs is the adjusted average number produced for market from 1932 and 1933 litters. The maximum amount of acreage for which benefit payments will be allowed is 30 per cent of the base. For the reduction, the farmer receives from the government, 35 cents per bushel for the production estimated for the amount of acreage by which his corn land area is kept below the 1932-1933 average, and $15 per head on the number of hogs represented by the 10 per cent reduction. In each case, however, the contract signer's pro rata share of the local administration expenses will be deducted from the stated cash benefits.

In addition to the cash payments, the corn grower will have unrestricted use of the land shifted from corn production and will be eligible to take part in any governmental corn loan program that may be available in the fall of 1935.

Shapiro Refused "To Stick 'Em Up"

Claims That He Grappled With J. B. Simmons Intruder In His Home

J. B. Simmons, alias Bill Burns, charged with breaking and entering with intent to commit a felony, was on trial before Judge James A. Chambers at county court today.

Abe Shapiro, of 1325 Moravia street, claimed that he was sitting in his home reading a newspaper when Simmons broke open a screen door and entered the house. Shapiro testified that he called to the intruder, who was in the kitchen, and that the man whom he afterwards found to be Simmons, came in and ordered him to "stick up his hands." Instead of doing so, Shapiro grappled with the intruder, and forced him out.

Simmons admitted that he had gone into the house, but claimed that he thought it was an office and went in to beg. He claimed that he had asked Shapiro for money, and the latter refused. Shapiro, he said, then threw him down breaking a strap on his wooden leg. Simmons also claimed that Shapiro had struck him with a bottle.

Some testimony was offered to show that Simmons had been begging around town and had been ordered by the police to stop. The case went to the jury about noon.

Rentz Relates His Trip To California

Lions Club Hears Publisher; Annual Blind Check Presented Today

Members of the Lions club heard Fred L. Rentz, president of The News and honorary member of their club, report the highlights of his recent California trip at the club's weekly luncheon-meeting today.

Mr. Rentz devoted much of his talk to references of former and present New Castle residents now in the west.

A check for $100 was presented by Mr. Rentz to the club today for deposit in the Lions' blind fund, the fund which maintains the club's county-wide blind work program. He makes similar donations to it each Christmas because, as he said today, "you're doing a fine job for the blind people."

The club, together with the Ladies of the Lions, will hold a box social tonight at the North Hill home of Lion Joseph Leyde.

B'NAI B'RITH WILL HEAR DR. BENNETT

Dr. G. S. Bennett, chairman of the Lawrence County Emergency Relief board, will speak to New Castle's B'nai B'rith organization at the Cosmo club on Wednesday evening, December 12, at 8 o'clock. He will discuss relief conditions locally. The club will nominate new officers for the coming year.

News Ad Results In Bill's Return

Finder Of $20 Note Fails To Reveal Identity Or Claim Reward Offered

Miss Myrna Kelley, of 1709 Huron avenue, is another person who is convinced that News advertising pays results, a little classified ad resulting in the return of a $20 bill she lost in the New Castle Dry Goods store last Wednesday morning.

The strange part about the return of her money was the fact that the finder did not claim the reward offered for its return, and did not reveal his or her identity.

The money, tucked neatly between a folded sheet of paper was accompanied by the following note: "In answer to your advertisement in the N. C. News this eve, I return to you $20 bill found in N. C. Dry Goods store last Wednesday morning. (It pays to advertise."

It Happened One Night

William Finn, 39, reported to Roxbury, Mass., police that while taking a nocturnal stroll, he was suddenly grabbed, hugged and kissed by an earnest woman, apparently young. Skeptical cops told reporters, and the news was given the world. Next day Elinor Sothern phoned Finn, confessed that she suddenly had a crazy impulse to hug the next man she saw. The two are shown after apologies and explanations. (Central Press).

No Doe Season Coen Asserts

Many Inquiries Are Being Made Of Game Warden, Following Erroneous Report

Somehow the impression has gotten abroad that there will be a doe season, at the close of the regular deer hunting season, Game Warden Frank L. Coen states. However, there will be no open season on does this year, Mr. Coen asserts.

How the rumor has gotten abroad he is at a loss to understand, but he has received many inquiries during the past few days about the matter, he states. If there was to be a doe season it would have been announced before this time by the game commission, so deer hunters who did not get enough during the regular season, will not be able to hunt deer after December 15, Coen asserts.

SPENDS 20 YEARS GETTING HIS "DEER"

(International News Service)
WILKES-BARRE, Pa., Dec. 11.—For 20 years, Isaac Benscoter, of Muhlenberg, travelled thousands of miles and expended hundreds of dollars in an attempt to bag a deer. Lady Luck, however, frowned on Benscoter. One year, every member of his party shot a deer but he failed to get one.

Not to be discouraged, Benscoter started on a hunting trip recently with a friend. The party was about 100 feet away from Benscoter's house when a large buck approached. Benscoter nonchalantly left his car, aimed his gun and fired. He got his first deer.

TWO CASES QUASHED BY ORDER OF COURT

Upon a motion made in court this morning Judge Hildebrand quashed a charge of operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor, which had been made against W. W. Thompson of Ellwood City. The action was taken owing to a faulty information. Thompson denied the charge.

The case of the commonwealth against Angelo Sandora, charged with felonious rape, was also quashed.

90 YEAR OLD DANCE RULE IS ANNULLED

(International News Service)
WILKES-BARRE, Pa., Dec. 11.—A 90-year-old ban on dancing has been lifted at Wyoming Seminary. The rule had been effected by the board of trustees in 1844 and since that time was never broken by the student body.

Dahlia roots should be dug soon after the first heavy frost has blackened the tops. Two persons, one on each side of the clump, can lift it with spade forks easily. Cut the stalks back to a few inches. Instead of shaking off the earth from the roots, let as much stay on as will cure the clumps in the sun for the remainder of the day before taking them in.

Net IncomeBIG INCOMES
SHOW INCREASEBy ROBERT S. THORNBURGH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—America's net income of $10,845,553,532 in the 1933 calendar year showed a drop of 3.04 per cent as compared with 1932.

But, as a result of New Deal activities, the income taxable by the federal government from business, partnerships, capital net gain, speculative profits and interest on government obligations showed increases.

Nevertheless, as the old saying goes, "the rich grew richer and the poor poorer."

The number of incomes of a million dollars or over jumped from 20 in 1932 to 46 in 1933 but at that were lower than in any other years excepting 1920 and 1921 when terrific taxes drove large incomes into tax exempt securities. In the income tax classes from $50,000 to $300,000 more returns were filed and greater income reported.

On the other hand, for incomes under $5,000, 3,339,602 returns were filed for 1933 as compared with 3,520,988 for the preceding year. The $5,000 to $50,000 classes likewise declined while there were slight decreases in the number of returns in the classes between $300,000 and $1,000,000.

These figures were disclosed in the treasury's annual "preliminary statistics of income" issued through the internal revenue bureau.

Net income was the lowest in 18 years. The number of million dollar incomes compared with the peak of 511 and 513 in 1928 and 1929 respectively.

The largest volume of net income in any of the classes was reported by the $5,000 and under class with $6,792,000,000 as compared with $7,200,000,000 in 1932. The millionaires group reported $81,558,981 against $35,239,556 the year before. The $5,000-$10,000 and $10,000-$20,000 classes both reported more than a million dollars net income but were substantially under last year. All groups over $50,000 had larger incomes than in 1932.

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 11.—If you think the film stars of today are beautiful, hang around until 1960. Within the next 25 years, it is being predicted, Hollywood actresses will achieve a maximum of human loveliness.

Jack Dawn, head of the makeup department at Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, declares increasing knowledge of ways to care for the complexion, the figure and other feminine charms will turn the trick.

"The Hollywood star of today," says Dawn, "is 90 per cent more beautiful than her predecessor of 15 years ago. For example take Joan Crawford, Greta Garbo, Janet Gaynor, Gloria Swanson and Kay Francis."

"These women not only are more beautiful than the actresses of yesterday, but they themselves have progressed far in beauty since their early pictures."

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 11.—Ho, hum. It was rather a slow family game of contract bridge for Max L. Swarthout, director of the school of music at the University of California.

He yawned, picked up his hand, then blinked his eyes.

Yo, ho, ho!

Thirteen spades!

He bid a grand slam.

Being vulnerable, he made 840 points for the coup with the bid doubled and redoubled, 2250 for the slam, 700 more for winning the rubber, and 150 for holding five honors, totaling 3,940 points.

Swarthout's chances of securing another all-spade hand, even with fortune's help, are one in 635,013.

The Posada, a semi-religious affair commemorating the Nativity, is celebrated at Christmas. After certain religious ceremonies the hostess hands out earthenware jars filled with candy or pulque (native wine). When each one has had his fill, three or four large pinatas are lowered from the ceiling. These are grotesque figures made of clay paper in the form of clowns, ballet dancers, huge turkeys, etc., and are filled with candy. Each guest in turn is blindfolded and given a certain number of strokes at them. Finally someone, hitting a pinata more squarely than the others, breaks it, sending a shower of candy over the

Pirates Would Like To Swing Deal For Todd And Another Good Pitcher

BOSTON SEEKS OSCAR MELILLO

By DAVID J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—The Boston Red Sox can have Oscar Melillo as their 1935 second baseman if they're willing to part with outfielder Solters, and odd infielder or two (if they aren't a little odd, they aren't in Boston) and cash. . . . Walter Brainerd, hitting outfielder, and Dutch Brandt, the pitching pitcher, aren't for sale by the Braves. . . . Terry already has obtained his right-hand hitting outfielder from another National League club but nobody knows who he is. . . . The Brooklyn Dodgers are in the market for Babe Herman and Cuculino is definitely not on at the moment. . . . Babe Ruth is not looking for a job but his volunteer lookers would fill the New York aquarium. . . . That's a splendid idea. . . . Even the fish wouldn't know which side of the glass they were on.

These, briefly, are a few of the overnight developments as hundreds of baseball men prepare this morning to air the anedonids and ink the heels for the next three days. Maybe I shouldn't have mentioned the heels. Somebody is liable to take offense, not knowing which heel out of so many I might mean.

Meeting Opens
Anyhow, and not to make a short story long, the annual meetings of the major leagues are down on the schedule here, starting today with I suppose, much oratory and little action promised.

I'm a sucker for oratory myself but I'll dispose of its pre-arranged features as briefly as possible, thus: A discussion (in the National League meeting) of the "dog" seating on Braves Field, Boston, ribald comment being unnecessary; a discussion (in both leagues) of radio broadcasting; a discussion (National League) of night baseball, with the Cards and Reds taking the minority side; the induction of Ford C. Frick as National League president and the retirement, amid protest and howlers, of John A. Heydler at $15,000 a year; I mean John will retire, the $15,000 won't; a proposed ban on post-season barnstorming; the proposed sale, now, seemingly abandoned, of the St. Louis Cardinals to Lew Wentz, Oklahoma millionaire.

Boston Wants Melillo
The St. Louis-Boston deal in the American League apparently is being held up by the one objection you wouldn't look for from Boston end, namely, money. The fact is they have spent so much and gotten so little, they're beginning to play smart. Nevertheless, if they are to get Melillo, they'll have to pay for him. Burns, I hear, never has figured seriously in the negotiations, regardless of the circulation of many reports, including my own.

I also understand that Mr. Hornsby takes a very reasonable view of this situation. He claims that, if he gives up one second baseman, he must have another. His is the wholly logical idea that no matter how much money they give him, he can't play a stack of ten dollar bills on second base.

Chapman May Go

Incidentally, everybody is trying to talk the young man out of Buck Newsom, his pitcher, without so far the slightest success. Moreover, the Yankees have tried to get Hadley, his pitcher, such sterling performers as outfielders Hoag and Yrd. They neglected to mention Ben Chapman, who is on the market and may wind up in Washington in a deal for Heine Manush, although just why I am quite unable to say.

Meantime, Joe Cronin, Boston manager, held a conference yesterday with Hornsby and Stanley Harris and Clark Griffith, of Washington, but why go into that? They probably were talking about the onion soup at Iere's.

Humberts Trim Union Ex-High

On Monday night the Humbert basketball team came from behind to score an impressive 43-32 victory over a strong Union Ex-High school quintet, on the King Humbert floor.

Zingaro, DeCaprio and Gennock were outstanding for the winners, while Morrison and Monaco were the big guns for the losers. In the preliminary game the Humbert Redies scored a 27-15 victory over the Hawks.

Wednesday evening the Humbert team opposes Ellwood City on the King Humbert floor.

ST. MICHAELS TO FIGHT HARD FOR VICTORY FRIDAY

New Castle Church League basketball teams will go back into action Friday night at the "Y" court with the strong St. Michaels team, coached by Michael "Jake" Babovsky, going after their third straight victory of the league. The St. Michaels will tangle with the Sacred Hearts, and a battle royal is expected.

If the St. Michaels win the game Friday night they will no doubt have clear sailing for the first half title in the church league. Balla and Chernavsky are getting special attention this week from Coach Babovsky.

There is little of interest or charm in the city of Versailles, France, which is 12 miles southwest of Paris, but the famous palace of Louis XIV, now known generally as the Palace of Versailles.

The Patrol finished the season of forecasting with 431 correct, 105 wrong, and 29 ties out of 565 games for a percentage of .804.

Educated in Jail

R. W. Shipley was 18 and illiterate when in 1923 he was sent to Maryland State Prison for life on a murder charge. Books, with which he came in contact for first time behind bars, developed in him an avid desire for learning, and now he has completed the equivalent of college course in electrical engineering. His accomplishment has caused authorities to consider pardoning him. (Central Press.)

Bones Creak As News Hounds And Printers Tangle

Joints that hadn't received much play since Robert B. Mantell first played "Hamlet" were creaking and squeaking last night at the local bowling alley when the Editorial Staff of The News and the Composing Room team hooked up in a nice friendly game of duckpins. ("Oh Yeh").

Well some of the boys hadn't flung a ball down the hardwood alley for so long that they forgot about the foul line lots of times, but this was overlooked. The Composing Room boys took three straight from the News Hounds and high individual scoring honors went to Charles "Charley" Landolf, with 182 and 183. Glenn Fox also rolled 183. Eddie Fritz put away his over-worked typewriter long enough to bowl with the boys and did very well.

The News Hounds used a ringer by the name of Harry Carlson.

Sportsmen To Convene Tonight

Motion pictures of forest fires will be shown to the Lawrence County Sportsmen's association at their meeting tonight at the Armory, West Washington street. The meeting will open at 8 p. m. On December 22, the sportsmen will hold a turkey shoot at their New Castle Fair ground range.

STATE MEETS ITHACA IN BASKETBALL OPENER

A new opponent, Ithaca College, of Ithaca, New York, will open Penn State's basketball season here on Friday. Nittany court fans will watch the Lion quintet in action for the first time with a great deal of interest, since Coach Spike Leslie has had the problem of rebuilding his 1934-35 team with a nucleus of only two lettermen from last season.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Paul Pirrone chalked up his sixteenth consecutive win last night at Cleveland when he won from Leo Halper, of Newark in a 10 round bout. It was a gruelling fight. Halper suffered a deep laceration of his lower lip in the seventh round after which he fagged behind. Patsy Perroni beat the veteran Johnny Risiko and Buddy Baer knocked out Mickey McGorty, the latter of Detroit in the first round. In the main bout for the junior welterweight title Barney Ross retained his crown against Bobby Pachio. The bout was staged by Ed Bang of the Cleveland News, an affair to benefit the kiddies and it drew about $25,000. At Pittsburgh, Marty Sampson pounded out a 10 round decision over Anson Green. Sampson made a fine impression.

Reports that the Pennsylvania Game Commission intends to permit shooting of doe this season is erroneous according to O. H. P. Green, local alderman and sportsman who said today that the matter is covered fully on page 39, section 569 of the game laws which says that "to remove any protections, declare additional open seasons, or reduce open seasons or bag limits, or close seasons, for the killing of game or fur bearing animals of either sex or both sexes, in any county or part thereof, a notice to that effect shall be published by the board in not less than two newspapers of general circulation, in each county affected, one time each week for at least two consecutive weeks, setting forth the action of the board and the rules and regulations adopted relative thereto. This has not been done and the season is scheduled to close on deer December 15. His explanation came following scores of calls from hunters who had not shot a buck and who believed they would fare forth in pursuit of doe of the season was extended.

Although spring is a far call away nevertheless the New Castle I. A. is looking forward to baseball season and they hope to not only have one tea but several baseball aggregations when the umpires sing out "Play Ball." During the winter months they will contact good ball players and endeavor to organize one of the best teams in the county after which they hope to and probably will be given a franchise in the Lawrence County league which has been in existence since 1923. Frank Summers has been delegated to head the movement. With Summers at the head of the movement and assured full hearted support by the association and their friends no doubt the movement will have proved successful.

Sharon high school "Red Hurricane" football team will play Sharon high at Taggart stadium on Thanksgiving Day in 1935, it was announced by Faculty Manager Ralph H. Gardner, today. The Sharon high officials have agreed to play here.

The New Castle-Sharon two-year agreement ran out this year with the 6-0 deadlock at Sharon, and it was thought that the two schools could not get together for a game in 1935, but action by the Sharon high officials together with the request of the New

Former Local Man Heads Traffic Club At Kansas City

In a recent edition of a Kansas City newspaper, an article is carried which reports the election of L. L. Drake, a former New Castle man to the presidency of the Traffic Club of that city. The election took place at a recent meeting in the Hotel Muehlebach.

Mr. Drake came to New Castle at the close of the World War, in which he served in the United States Marine Corps. In 1919 he became associated with the Lehigh Portland Cement Company in the offices here.

In 1925 he was promoted to Kansas City where he was made traffic manager for the company which position he holds today. While in New Castle he married Miss Adelaide Barber, a New Castle girl. Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Arrow, the latter a sister of Mrs. Drake's, recently returned to New Castle after an extended visit in Kansas City.

AROUND CITY HALL

Police chronology for 24 hours ending at 3:30 p. m. December 10, three arrests on charges as follows: Drunkenness, 2, and drunkenness and disorderly conduct, 1.

Motorcycle Patrolman Ray Showalter late yesterday was summoned to Lutton street where he found two massive police dogs. He gave one of the dogs to a party who has a fancy for canines but took the other to the police station where he tried to have the dog show what it had been taught. It was apparent that the dog could not understand Ray's instructions until he remarked: "Play dead." The dog laid down on the floor. It was reported to Ray that the owner of the dogs had moved out of the city. The police are investigating the report. If it is found untrue the owner will be informed where he can obtain the dogs.

Chief of Police John Haven's edict that all beer and whiskey must be off the tables in parlors where alcoholic drinks are served by midnight on Saturday nights no doubt will meet with the approval of some proprietors who are anxious to hear the bell ring after a long day of listening to clinking glasses, the hum-drum of conversation and calls for service. Some proprietors refuse to serve persons an unusual amount of beer or whiskey a few minutes before the midnight hour, realizing that if they do they cannot close their place of business until the crowd departs.

Council has adopted a resolution whereby the city will be permitted to build a storm sewer beneath the Pennsylvania railroad tracks. The city also will maintain the sewer. It will be a continuation of the Taylor street sewer which is under construction.

Council has accepted the recommendation of Solicitor Robert White that the city accept the proposition of attorneys for Mrs. Alice Reebel, North street property-owner, who claimed her property had been damaged when North street was moved. Viewers refused damages in the first view and an appeal was taken. On a second view she was awarded damages and the city took an appeal. The damages according to White's recommendation to council will be compromised. She owed a paving assessment of $133.79, and according to the agreement was to receive $200. The city will apply the balance of the $200 on 1934 city taxes.

The letterhead of the Lawrence County Garden club reads: "Coming together is the beginning, keeping together is progress, and working together is success. This was seen in the letter of protest the women sent to council anent the billboard which has been placed on the Public Square. The women asked council to remove the billboard to a more appropriate place. The letter was filed."

When Mayor Mayne threatened to submit the case of John Dudyk, autoist, to the state highway patrol trial board, he set what may prove to be a precedent in city circles. The young man's machine struck another car. According to the mayor the driver did not use the caution he should have used on a day in which streets were ice-coated. The mayor declared that if Dudyk did not reach a settlement with an Ohio man whose car was damaged, the case would be presented to the board where if testimony developed against Dudyk his license might be revoked.

SECOND GROUP VISITS NEWS

The group included Joe Watorowicz, Charles Via, Felix Verenski, Stanley Smith, Frank Tehu, Dorothy Jones, Evelyn Steele, John Dudo, Leon Neal, Bill Clark, Edward McDaniels, Mary Pilch, Millie Fasano, Coletta Thorpe, Katherine Stein-grasser.

MARRIED 42 YEARS, BUT SEEK DIVORCE

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 11.—Forty years of married life with the same person did not prevent Mrs. Regina Wendt from seeking a divorce from George E. Wendt today.

Cruel and barbarous treatment was her charge as Wendt appeared to testify they had had "troubles but also much happiness."

Despite the action, both live under the same roof at Tartentum.

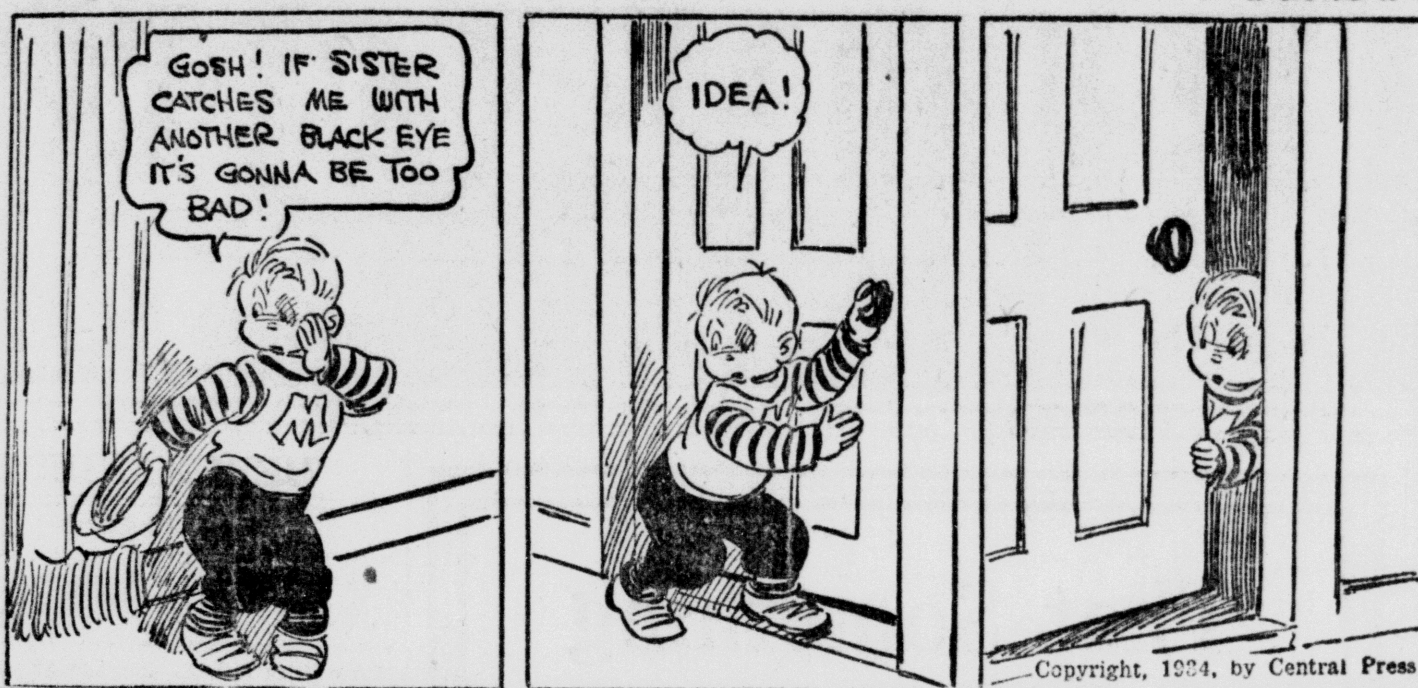

OFFICERS NAMED FOR GREEK CHURCH

At a recent meeting held in the St. George Greek Orthodox church, on Reynolds street, the following new directors were elected: Charles Freeman, William Lestas, Gust Talaganis, William Hanotis, John Mitsos, James Johnson and Minas Papataskis. The Rev. Pitsonis and George Papazekos were in charge of the meeting.

Rail Demand Is

Strong Spot In Industrial Group, Going Up More Than Point

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—Demand for the rail shares featured the stock market today.

Buying of the carrier stocks including Atchafalaya, Union Pacific, New York Central, Delaware and Hudson and several of the lower priced issues quickly brought gains running to more than a point. The run up in the rails was apparently due to the sharp increase in car loadings as revealed by the individual reports now being issued.

Meat packing shares, particularly Wilson A. and preferred also were strong spots. Wilson preferred crossed par for a new high and the A stock advanced more than a point.

American Can was again the strong spot in the industrial group getting up more than a point. United States Steel, Bethlehem and other industrial issues, though, were only fractionally higher.

Utilities continued dull and somewhat heavy apparently reflecting the speech of Frank R. McNinch, federal power commissioner on the government utility program.

DuPont advanced fractionally in the chemical shares. General Motors and Chrysler were quiet and steady in the motor shares. Aviation shares continued strong on a comparatively large turnover. Building and merchandising shares continued heavy.

In City; Begin Work
On Sewer Today

ELLWOOD CITY, Dec. 11.—As a result of an action taken by the borough council of Ellwood City work on the city's storm sewer project, which was approved last week, was begun, this morning.

At a special meeting last night in the city building council passed an ordinance in order to facilitate activity. The borough is to pay for the material and the state for the labor. The rules of council were suspended to pass the ordinance on the first and final reading. The sewer is to start from the existing storm sewer on Sixth street and reach to Fourth street. Borough Manager Monroe announced that the park project was just approved.

An ordinance approving additional repairs and improvements to the fire building was also passed at this time on first and final reading.

Upon recommendation of the rules and regulations committee, the contract for supplying coal to borough buildings was awarded to the Ellwood Coal Company.

The street committee was delegated to look into the matter of opening up Fifth street to Wayne avenue from Oak street.

A private drive on Keystone way which was being frequently used by the public was ordered to be closed. Council considered a petition of citizens to build a Pinchot road on Hazel avenue. The matter of paving Pittsburgh Circle was also discussed. Borough Manager Monroe stated that this latter street, which has a considerable amount of traffic, must have a good road, or else the maintenance cost will be high.

A request of Ernie Lindgren of this city to sell Christmas trees here for one week from a local store room was turned down by council because of its transient dealers ordinance.

A communication from the adjutant general, Harrisburg, Pa., informed council that the local 107th Field Artillery unit in Frisco will be moved to Pittsburgh despite protests from here. Local officials are hoping for a change of attitude within the new administration.

Reading Youth On Trial For Murder

Paul Spece, 15, Alleged To Have Killed Father During Quarrel In Home

(International News Service)
LANCASTER, Pa., Dec. 11.—Only vaguely comprehending the proceedings, 15-year-old Paul Spece, Mannheim township high school sophomore, today was placed on trial for the murder of his father, Stephen Spece, last September 9.

The boy, one of the youngest persons ever to be tried for murder in Lancaster county, had until today been blissfully ignorant of the time for his trial.

Since his arrest Paul had been permitted to continue his school work in his cell. Deeply engrossed in his school books, the youth was not notified by prison authorities yesterday when a true bill was returned in the case by the grand jury.

The boy shot and killed his father, according to police, after he was dragged out of bed and beaten because he refused to accompany his parent to the Reading fair to sell pretzels.

BATTLE AGAINST DEATH IS LOST

Young Man Slowly Dying At Bottom Of Well, Crushed By Rocks

(International News Service)
GREYSTONES, WICKLOW, Irish Free State, Dec. 11.—A dramatic two-day battle to save the life of a man half buried by a rock slide at the bottom of a 30-foot well was lost today by inches.

Diggers who had shovelled frantically while women prayed around the well's mouth were within one foot of Charles O'Leary, 22, when a second slide crushed him.

"Goodbye," he gasped through a speaking tube, "I am dying."

Lacquer work is one of the earliest of the Chinese industrial arts, but there exist no records of its origin.
